'Across The Hedgerow' Project Rural Support in partnership with Young Farmer Clubs of Ulster. This service provides older, vulnerable, and isolated members of the farming community with listening support and companionship via telephone calls. The aim is to improve the emotional wellbeing of the client. The winter months can be a very lonely and isolating time for older people; therefore, this service would provide them with the listening ear and companionship they need. If you know of any older individual, from a farming/rural community, who will benefit from this service please inform them of 'Across the Hedgerow'. The Rural Support Helpline: 0800 138 1678
